Elba Schools superintendent expresses delight over increasing enrollment numbers at elementary school

by Linda Hodge, Editor

The Elba Board of Education met Thursday evening, June 9, for the regular monthly board meeting, and the superintendent expressed delight in continuing to see student numbers increase for the elementary school.

Superintendent Chris Moseley had one word for the enrollment numbers for the elementary school – wow, especially for the lower grades.

"Last year, we ended up with 71 or 72 students in our kindergarten class [will be first graders the upcoming school year]," Moseley said. "As of right now, we are at 65 students for the incoming kindergartners, and we are projecting to hit at least 70 when school starts."

He said the school system was still waiting on some numbers from the state department of education, but it is very close to needed to hire an additional teacher unit again this year to meet the enrollment demands. He said he and Chief Financial Officer Valiece McKelvy had already been looking at financial numbers, just in case there is that need.

Moseley also reminded board members there is that one class – the group that will be fourth graders this upcoming school year – that has needed an additional teacher unit each year since they began school.

"We are just really excited that our numbers continue to go up each year," he said.

With that in mind, the board voted to approve a recommendation from the superintendent to hire veteran

This SUV was one of two vehicles involved Saturday afternoon, June 18, in a collision at the U.S. Hwy 84 and Alabama Hwy. 141 intersection in the Curtis Community, outside of Elba. The second vehicle sustained far less damage, according to members of the Elba Volunteer Fire Department. Two people were taken to a local hospital to receive treatment for injuries as a result of this accident, but those injuries did not appear to be serious.

Two separate accidents reported Saturday, June 18, on U.S. Hwy. 84 in Coffee County near Elba

The Elba Volunteer Fire Department and other local emergency personnel responded Saturday, June 18, to two separate vehicle accidents on U.S. Highway 84, with one of the two being at the intersection of U.S. Hwy. 84 and Alabama Hwy. 141 in the Curtis Community.

The first accident of the day was Saturday morning on Hwy. 84 [in the east-bound lane just west of Hwy. 166 in Elba], and this was a single vehicle accident. A Toyota SUV left the roadway and overturned off the road. Reportedly, there were no injuries in this accident; however, the vehicle sustained heavy damage.

The second accident of the day was at the intersection of Hwy. 84/Hwy. 141 in the Curtis community of Coffee County. This intersection has been the site of multiple accidents over the past few years. It has many local citizens calling for "something to be done" to try and prevent these incidents from continuing to happen.

Zion Chapel anglers compete in state tournament

The third year in the history of the Zion Chapel Bass Team is a wrap.

The team closed the book on volume three of their tournament fishing the first weekend in June at Lake Eufaula. In Zion Chapel's three years of fishing the state championship, this was the first year for the tournament to be in south Alabama.

Only one of the three Zion Chapel teams qualified to fish in the state championship June 3 and 4, 2022. Team Avery Padgett and Ethan Young was among the top finishers in the Tiger Division (south Alabama). The top finishers in the Tide Division (north Alabama)

Saturday afternoon's wreck involved two vehicles. One received heavy damage as it left the roadway after colliding with the other vehicle. The second vehicle reportedly was able to be driven away from the scene.

The accident sent two individuals to a local hospital to receive treatment for injuries, but those injuries did not appear to be serious.

Elba celebrates Juneteenth holiday

Perry Stinson named Juneteenth Hometown Hero

The City of Elba and Mulberry Heights Coalition came together Thursday, June 16, and celebrated the Juneteenth holiday.

The day's events began with a Hometown Hero presentation at the Elba Theatre in downtown Elba. The 2022 recipient of this award was Perry Stinson.

Stinson was honored for his dedication over the years in recreation and education to the Elba community. His service dates to 1961.

Stinson also has been an active member of the Elba Lions Club for many years, and he has served his community in helping that organization promote its mission to improve health and well-being, strengthen communities, and support those in need through humanitarian services.

Later in the day last Thursday, the Mulberry Heights Coalition, Elba Public Library and Camp E.X.C.E.L. jointly hosted a Juneteenth Celebration at the Elba Splash Pad where youngsters were invited to enjoy the aquatic recreation venue along with water slides. The event also included food, games, storytelling, and a coloring contest.

Reportedly, lots of fun was had by all in attendance for this celebration.

Juneteenth commemorates the emancipation of enslaved people in the United States. The holiday was first celebrated in Texas, where on that date in 1865, in the aftermath of the Civil War, slaves were declared free under the terms of the 1862 Emancipation Proclamation. Juneteenth officially is celebrated on June 19 each year. It became a federal holiday when Congress passed The Juneteenth National Independence Day Act in June 2021 and was signed into law by President Joe Biden on June 17, 2021.

Extra precautions needed to prevent heat illnesses

With temperatures and heat indices rising into triple digits, the Alabama Department of Public Health advises the public to be alert to the warning signs of heat illnesses.

Heat-related illnesses occur when the body is exposed to high temperatures. The incidence of these illnesses rises expectedly during warm weather periods, and anyone exposed to high temperatures or extreme heat can experience symptoms when the body's temperature control system is overloaded. The most common heat-related illnesses are as follows:

- Heat cramps
- Heat exhaustion
- Heat stroke

Heat cramps— include muscle pains or spasms (abdomen, arms or legs), profuse sweat, and high salt concentration in the sweat.

Heat exhaustion— is associated with heavy sweating, paleness, muscle cramps, tiredness, weakness, dizziness, headache, nausea, or vomiting and fainting. Other possible symptoms may include cool and moist skin, fast and weak pulse rate, fast and shallow breathing, or irritability. Older adults, those with high blood pressure, and those working or exercising in a hot environment are prone to heat exhaustion. If heat exhaustion is not treated, it may progress to heatstroke.

Heat stroke or sun stroke— the most serious heat-related illness, a life-threatening problem, may occur when the body is unable to control its temperature. Body temperature may rise to 106 degrees F or higher within 10 -15 minutes. Signs include an extremely high body temperature, red, hot and dry or moist skin, rapid, strong pulse, throbbing headache, dizziness, nausea, dehydration, combativeness or confusion, and unconsciousness. Heat stroke is a medical

"I find that the harder I work, the more luck I seem to have." Thomas Jefferson

Should Joe Biden run for re-election or be a one termer like the Georgia peanut farmer? By golly if he would spend his ex-president years as productive as Jimmy Carter, we would personally escort him out of the White House and pat him on the back with a "good luck, brother" comment. Probably no one would have had an easy job in today's world and following Donald Trump, but we have personally questioned some of Biden's decisions. Oh, not the fall with the bicycle last week. Even young folks occasional get their foot tangled up or stumble over a tree root. However, we would probably not be upset if the Democrat Party put fourth a fresh candidate in the next round of presidential elections.

The election day vote on the state parks bond issue amendment passed in every Alabama county with an overwhelming majority. We heard someone say, "That bunch in Montgomery were ready to start spending that money the day after the votes were counted." That is a bit unfair, as the bonds will have to be sold before the money can be spent. NOW, the department surely has some rough plans in place and can begin fleshing them out. Otherwise, they would not have had any idea how big of a bond issue they would request. Anyway, Alabama voters endorsed the plan overwhelmingly.

A recent opinion piece on an internet website assigned the blame for the ongoing run-away inflation on . . . the government of the past couple of generations beginning with the establishment of the Social Security program. The elected officials realized they could buy re-election by giving voters non-existing money (the Federal Reserve just prints more money). Some other inflation causing government actions include . . . keeping up with the Soviet threats in the 1980s, savings and loan crisis in the 1990s, then 9/11 in the 2000s, housing crisis in the 2010s, and of course COVID. The federal government has a $4 trillion annual tax income and $30 trillion of debt. There is also that $100 trillion promised to future retirees in retired federal employees, military retirees, and Social Security! All those were reasons to print more money and let someone else solve the problem years later. Well years later is - now. We need to either buckle down and pay the piper and/or kick back against excessive federal spending.

The federal spending issue brought back a comment years ago by retiring U.S. Senator Richard Shelby. He and I were discussing "things" one day and he said something like, "You know, everyone is against more government spending . . . except those dollars coming to them and/or their community." We had never thought of it in those terms, but quickly realized he was right.

A couple of weeks ago a strong lightning storm came to Coffee County. We were still at the office and were at the cash register when a strong bolt of lightning hit "right near us." It was so close that the fax machine lit up and kept trying to ring until we turned it off. Our thoughts were, "Oops, we have some machines destroyed," but thank goodness everything survived! We did hear the next day that a local lady who was standing in her back yard got struck. Clearly it was not a direct hit, as she survived and was released from the hospital a couple of days later. She said today (Tuesday) that she feels fine. Now folks, that would make us instantly think that God was sending us some sort of urgent message!!!

When the world was a mess, Alabama showed plain common sense

Editorial by Alabama Governor Kay Ivey

Over the last two years, tourists and vacationers have flocked to Alabama to escape unnecessary restrictions and mandates. They also traveled here in record numbers because Alabama has something for everyone.

From our white sandy beaches on the Gulf Coast to the river valleys across the state to vibrant cultures and top-ranked cities, we remained open, welcoming and promoting normalcy.

Google searches, alone, proved Alabama was one of the county's most desired getaways. More people searched for information about our state than they did other tourist hot spots, like California, Hawaii and New York. Alabama travel information jumped from 30th place to fourth among the 50 states.

Other states and the national tourism industry suffered a drop of 45%. But here in Alabama, we did not just recover; we thrived. In 2021, 26% more tourists vacationed in Alabama and spent a record amount of almost $20 billion.

It's no secret that economic growth is a priority of mine, and that includes expanding Alabama tourism. During my tenure, we have seen the tourism industry almost double in revenue. Revenues went from $10.7 billion in 2012 to $19.7 billion in 2021. Now, this growth could be attributed to new tourism attractions and good advertisement, or the truth of the matter: Alabama has it going on.

Even more importantly, tourists create good-paying jobs. Tourism helped fund 227,334 jobs last year. With that many jobs and $6.8 billion in payroll, the Alabama tourism industry is, no doubt, important to the overall health of Alabama's economy.

It does not stop here. Alabamians just voted to provide more funding for state parks and public historical locations. This constitutional amendment will help improve, renovate, construct and maintain our 22 state parks which encompass 48,000 acres of endless opportunities to fish, camp, canoe, hike and enjoy the great outdoors.

We are keeping Alabama the beautiful, beautiful.

Tourism down on the Gulf Coast is a money-making machine and the rest of Alabama isn't far behind. You can retrace the steps of the Civil Rights Movement, discover outer space in Huntsville at the U.S. Space and Rocket Center, hike the start of the Appalachian range at Pinhoti Trail or spend a weekend on the lake at one of my favorite Alabama destinations, Lake Jordan.

Whether you are a first-time tourist, a frequent visitor or a local, I invite you and your family to explore all that Alabama has to offer this summer.

Sister just keeps digging her hole deeper with Cuzin Lou Lou when it comes to the Lou 2!

There is thing among Jeep owners where many purchase little rubber ducks, include some little note with them, and place the ducks on or in other Jeeps they come across. The idea is to create smiles throughout the Jeep community.

Lou Lou actually was not aware of this craze until Sister told her about it. When Sister made her aware of the "ducking" game, Sister also hinted that she would be surprised if Lou Lou ever received one of the little ducks for the Lou 2.

Well...someone proved Sister wrong! And, Lou Lou is still laughing about it.

Lou Lou was at a park recently and her mode of transportation to the park was the Lou 2. At the end of the day, Lou Lou returned to her Jeep only to find a little rubber duck had been placed in the driver's seat of the Lou 2! There was a note attached with these words - Duck, Duck, Jeep!

The anonymously given gift definitely brought a smile to Lou Lou's face, and she was excited to get home tell Sister about it.

"I got ducked!" Lou Lou excitedly said once she arrived home.

Here's where Sister spoke before thinking and dug that hole a little deeper...

"Really???" was the very surprised response that came from Sister's mouth.

"Why do you say it like that?" Lou Lou wanted to know. "Are you just shocked that someone would actually 'duck' my Jeep?"

"No...of course not," Sister tried to change her tune.

Uh huh...Lou Lou was on to her now. She was still of the mindset that the Lou 2 was not worthy of such praise. Joke on her!!

Lou Lou has tried to not let Sister's inappropriate reaction to the Lou 2 receiving that rubber duck from another Jeep owner, bring her spirits down, but she has several times reminded Sister of her poor use of the word "really" when she announced the ducking experience. Sister contends that she never said she does not think the Lou 2 is unworthy of being ducked, but she definitely let her mouth get ahead of her thoughts that particular day.

She better watch it, or Lou Lou will ban Sister from the enjoyment of riding Lou 2!

Until next time...God Bless and Keep Smiling!

teacher Angie Sieving to be a fourth grade teacher at Elba Elementary School for the 2022-2023 school year. He said Sieving is coming to Elba after many years of teaching at Holly Hill Elementary School in Enterprise.

Upon approving the hire of Sieving, Moseley said that would fulfill the current need for teachers at the elementary school; however, he again reminded the board there could still be a need for an additional teacher unit and hire for that.

"We would love to be where we need to hire another teacher," Moseley said.

Also, during the meeting, the board approved a budget amendment. McKelvy explained this was to include some carryover funds from Fiscal Year 2021 in the current budget. She said this was mainly Title I, Title VI, and IDA (special education) funds.

McKelvy said the funds would be utilized for things such as classroom materials/supplies, technology hardware, etc.

Moseley noted that work to replace flooring on about 20 spaces within the schools was underway this summer. He also said some painting upgrades were taking place too.

He said he anticipated a busy summer on the Elba City Schools campus as improvement projects get handled prior to the start of school in August.

Our Family Serving Your Family Since 1934

Coping With Your Grief When You Lose a Parent

When a parent dies, you will feel many challenging emotions. Coping with your grief may feel insurmountable and as though it will never end. How can you overcome the problems you face after your parent has died? First, you must recognize grief is necessary, and it is something you must work through. There is no shortcut.

It's important you recognize and accept your feelings. Take time to cry, and don't be afraid to share your tears with other mourners. Talk openly with family members and friends. Express your anger if you are feeling it. Lean on your friends. They may feel awkward for a while because they don't know how to talk to you about your loss. You can help them help you by simply telling them what you need.

If you normally have a pressing schedule, try to lighten it. Remember, grief is mentally taxing. You don't need the added strain of too much to do. Set aside some quiet times just for yourself so you can think about your parent's death and put things in perspective.

If your other parent is still alive, talk with him or her and share your memories. Sooner or later, you'll likely find yourselves laughing about the good times as well as grieving for your loss. Gently suggest your surviving parent not make any major decisions for several months. A grieving widow or widower may sell the house or give away belongings, only to regret those actions later.

What if you can't seem to handle your grief? There is no timetable for grief, so it's difficult to say when a person needs professional help. If you are worried you aren't handling your grief, you might consider talking to a counselor. You may be relieved to discover you are reacting normally.

If you believe you need help, ask your funeral director, clergy person or doctor to suggest a counselor.

Always Leave Them Laughing

Summer is here and that means vacations. Vacations in my family were always an adventure. My Dad believed in taking both weeks of vacation at the same time. Once a year we would load up my Mom and Dad, four children and sometimes my Granny and hit the road. We were "The Grizwalds".

I'll never forget the year Dad decided to drive to Colorado. He thought it would be fun to go to the Rocky Mountains and of course take in some sights along the way. Reservations were made and the itinerary was written. Dad even had a special mattress made to fit in the back of our station wagon so we could lie down and sleep. Today he would be arrested for not having proper child restraints, but back then, as long as the children were actually inside the car everything was okay.

We left before daylight on the first morning. I'm sure Dad wanted to get as far as he could before I started asking question. "Are we there yet?" "How much farther?" There are certain responsibilities that come with being the youngest child. One is to drive family crazy on vacation and I was happy to fulfill my obligation. The "old man" was not to be disappointed. I woke up when he laid me in the back of the car and was asking questions before we crossed the county line.

Most of what I remember about that trip is great. We saw the St. Louis Arch "Gateway to the West" and rode an elevator to the top of it. We spent one night in Hays Kansas. As far as I could tell, it was the only place in Kansas. Of course we saw the majestic Rockies and some of the most breathtaking scenery I've ever seen. All in all it was two weeks well spent.

However, there were plenty of those giddy been together in a car too long moments as well. You can't drive ten or eleven hours in one day and not get a little crazy. One particular thing that happened sticks out in my mind because I caused it. We stopped for gas somewhere along the way. Back then there were still full service stations where an attendant actually pumped your gas, washed your windshield and checked your oil. Today we are lucky if we even speak to a human at a gas station.

Dad got out to watch the man do his job. I never really understood why, but he always did that. While Dad was outside watching the attendant open the hood I decided to climb into the front seat to sit with Mom. As I was climbing over, my foot got stuck and I lost my balance. At precisely the same time the man leaned under the hood, I literally sat down on the horn.

To say he was a bit startled would be an understatement. He jumped straight up in the air and smacked the back of his head on the car hood. Mother pulled me off of the horn rather quickly as the man staggered around the front of the car. I sheepishly looked out the window to see if Daddy was upset. To my surprise, he was leaning on the car howling. As the service station man came to his senses Dad tried to regain his composure but he couldn't stop laughing.

Inside the car, Mother was laughing so hard she had tears rolling down her cheeks. The rest of us were laughing now that we knew that I would not be killed when Dad got back in. As we left the service station, the poor attendant was still shaking his head. We were revived and ready for some more driving time.

The Bible has a few things to say about laughter. "A cheerful heart is good medicine, but a crushed spirit dries up the bones" (Proverbs 17:22) In other words, it better to laugh than to be too serious all the time. "A happy heart makes the face cheerful..." (Proverbs 15:13) Basically we need to lighten up and learn to laugh at life from time to time. When we do that, it will make those long "drives" a lot more bearable.

Lip Service?

Teresa of Calcutta (1910-1997), also known as Mother Teresa, is legendary for her generous work with orphans, the poor, and the terminally ill. She was constantly on the move, helping wherever she could. She fought tirelessly for the underprivileged. She raised the funds necessary to expand a growing ministry. The prize money accompanying her Nobel Peace Prize went directly to caring for the poor of Calcutta.

The world saw what she was doing and beat a path to her door. While others were asking what should be done about those poor folks in Calcutta, Teresa was doing it. Her ministry was not large at first. She took in one child off the streets, then another, and another, and another.

We do a lot of talking about what needs to happen in our churches and in our world.

We call that lip service. Every hand would be raised if the average congregation were asked, "Who believes in evangelism?" But very few hands would be raised if the follow-up question was, "How many are personally involved in evangelism?"

The outcome would likely be the same for visiting the sick and the windows, or for praying, or for biblical giving. It's not hard to see the trend here. Every person will quickly confess with his or her mouth those principles known to be true, but how many Christians actually practice the truths they say they believe? - C.T.

Skyler Nalley inducted into The Honor Society of Phi Kappa Phi

Skyler Nalley of Elba, Ala., was recently initiated into The Honor Society of Phi Kappa Phi, the nation's oldest and most selective all-discipline collegiate honor society. Nalley was initiated at Troy University.

Nalley is among approximately 25,000 students, faculty, professional staff and alumni to be initiated into Phi Kappa Phi each year. Membership is by invitation only and requires nomination and approval by a chapter.

Only the top 10 percent of seniors and 7.5 percent of juniors are eligible for membership. Graduate students in the top 10 percent of the number of candidates for graduate degrees may also qualify, as do faculty, professional staff and alumni who have achieved scholarly distinction.

Phi Kappa Phi was founded in 1897 under the leadership of undergraduate student Marcus L. Urann who had a desire to create a different kind of honor society: one that recognized excellence in all academic disciplines. Today, the Society has chapters on more than 325 campuses in the United States, its territories and the Philippines.

emergency and even with immediate treatment, it can be life-threatening or cause serious long-term problems.

Due to concerns over extreme heat, City of Elba utility and street department crews began last week working 6 a.m. until 2 p.m. Monday-Friday.

City clerk Sally Bane said this change in work hours was made in an effort to help city employees out in the extreme heat daily. She said the city is anticipating it will stay with this new work schedule for those departments through the end of August but will make adjustments as needed.

This change did not affect city hall hours.

Recommendations to avoid heat illness are that people drink plenty of fluids except alcohol or caffeinated beverages to prevent dehydration, stay in an air-conditioned room, keep out of the sun by seeking shelter, wear a wide-brimmed hat, light-colored and loose-fitting clothing, use sunscreen of SPF 15 or higher, take cool showers or baths, and reduce or eliminate strenuous activities during the hottest times of the day. Individuals with heart disease, diabetes, obesity, poor circulation, or previous stroke problems, people of older and younger ages, and those taking certain medications are at greater risk of becoming ill in hot weather.

While testing and avoiding travel when sick are still recommended

COVID-19 testing no longer mandated for flights to the United States

Travelers returning to the United States from foreign countries by air this summer are relieved of one requirement. The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) has rescinded its order requiring a negative pre-departure COVID-19 test before flights to the United States.

This means air passengers no longer need to be tested and show a COVID-19 test result or documentation of recovery from COVID-19 before boarding a flight to the U.S. However, the CDC still recommends travelers boarding flights get tested for current infection with a viral test as close to the time of departure as possible (no more than three days) and not travel if they are sick.

The CDC offers these steps to take before traveling:

- Make sure you are up to date with your COVID-19 vaccines before travel.
- Check the current COVID-19 Community Level at your destination.
- Make sure you understand and follow all state, tribal, local and territorial travel restrictions.
- If you have a medical condition or are taking medication that weakens your immune system, you might NOT be fully protected even if you are up to date with your COVID-19 vaccines. Talk to your healthcare provider before travel. Even after vaccination, you may need to continue taking all precautions.

- Consider getting tested for current infection with a viral test as close to the time of departure as possible (no more than three days) before travel.

CDC recommends people 2 years and older properly wear a well-fitting mask or respirator over the nose and mouth in indoor areas of public transportation and advises against travel if they:

- Have COVID-19 symptoms.
- Tested positive for COVID-19.

- Are awaiting results of a COVID-19 test.
- Had close contact with a person with COVID-19 and are recommended to quarantine.

The Alabama Department of Public Health has COVID-19 information available at its website at <https://www.alabamapublichealth.gov/covid19/index.html>

The Pressbox

By Ricky Mularz, Sports Editor

Our grandson Lawson joined us over the weekend at a nearby restaurant to celebrate his Nanny's birthday party, and while he didn't join in on any conversations, he did enjoy the trip and made a meal out of the restaurant's warm dinner rolls. He did order two items off the kid's menu, but ate six rolls during dinner and took home six more to chow down on later. If we could afford to eat there more often he wouldn't stay skinny for long.

For what is worth....

 The softball season ended over the weekend for the Elba girls on the All-Star teams, but this bunch of girls made their mark on the field and already have a lot of folks excited about their future as Lady Tigers. The All-Star teams included girls from both Elba and New Brockton, and both towns will no doubt reap the benefits of having their youth compete and put in hours of work to improve. It is a sacrifice to compete in sports at any level and now that these girls know what it takes they should also reap the benefits.

 The Elba High basketball teams have been on the court a couple of days a week in the month of June and from what I hear both the Tigers and Lady Tigers have grown into winning teams. The Tigers and coach Kelsey Prestwood will return the bulk of their team and will be looking to be a contender in their return to the 1A ranks, while the Lady Tigers have been winning big against any and all opponents and have coach Shaun Hammonds looking forward to what he thinks could be one of his best teams ever. I have been excited about the upcoming football season for quite a while, and now am beginning to get interested in basketball.

 Elba Tiger running back Alvin Henderson has been in the news in recent weeks as the upcoming sophomore continues to get offers from the nation's top football programs. The list reached 51 last week with an offer from Alabama, and when you add that to offers from such programs as Auburn, Ole Miss, Clemson, Georgia and dozens of other power five programs, it is easy to see that Henderson is more than just a dot on the radar. It is also a sure bet he will have a target on his back in every game he plays for the next three years, and he will have to prove his skills every time he carries the ball. The scholarship offers are great, but the hard work cannot stop if he expects to take the next step.

 In closing.... The Atlanta Braves carried their 14-game winning streak to Chicago to play the Cubs, which were mired in a 10-game losing streak, and as could have been predicted the Cubs promptly won the first two games of the series. The always optimistic Braves announcers down played the losses and instead reminder their listeners how much better the team's record is compared to last season's team at the same time. I am a Braves fan, but their broadcasters can make it hard to watch at times.

The Wood Ducks scored 4 runs in their final at-bat to post an exciting 4-2 win over Prime9. Noah Jeffers and Hunter Bedsole both had 1 hit, scored 1 run and had 1 rbi to lead the Wood Ducks, while Ty Sieving and Siasoi Blevins combined to pitch six innings and allowed one earned run on four hits, while recording five strikeouts.

The Wood Ducks pulled away from a slim 7-6 third inning lead to claim the tournament title with a big 14-7 win over Prime9.
